

HECrets

With so many HECs on the books, it's almost impossible for our organization not to have some secrets. Follow along to learn more about HEC's most classified information, as we like to call them, the HECrets.

HEC 10

The board of directors worked with ornithologists to train pigeons that would fly the HEC invitations from Ithaca to New York. The pigeons were successful and arrived 35 minutes early to their destination with the help of the wind.

HEC 35

James J. Tsighis was nicknamed The Beard for his idea of the beard competition.

HEC 60

Diamond Jubilee had a 0.95 carat diamond prize to align with its heist theme.

HEC 96

Due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, all events were held virtually. The F&B teams had to get creative. They ended up creating meal kits that were sent across the country to the guest's homes.

HEC 18

During HEC 18, all profits supported the war effort through War Bonds.

HEC 42

A zodiac-inspired "Fortune's Feast", held on a scorpion-shaped table, each dish representing a constellation. Real lion meat was served to represent Leo!

HEC 62

The Statler Hotel was under renovation in 1987, so HEC was moved off campus!

HEC 65

Secret survival guide, perhaps made by the board of directors.

SURVIVAL GUIDE

1. Delegate work.
2. Don't procrastinate.
3. Sleep.
4. Chew! Use chopsticks to break things.
5. If the drill doesn't work, try the hammer.
6. Start work early. It takes a long time and scraps too to start for other projects.
7. Spread out functions among production schedules. There is not enough space for everyone to make stuff at the same time and there is not enough equipment to have everyone build at the same time.
8. When you are ready to get your flat through a wall, a occupational issue is necessary. Only allowed to punch.
9. Get lots of help, even if you have to bring your friends.
10. When things get stressful, remember it is only a class and will eventually end.
11. Laugh at yourself and others.
12. Allow sufficient time to order materials.
13. Make all the good tools so that they don't get ruined.
14. Don't be afraid to ask for help or advice.
15. Never let them see you sweat.
